FPAS – Fire Protection Accreditation Scheme

FPA Australia Accreditation Timeline

- 2006 Bushfire Planning and Design (BPAD) accreditation was introduced by FPA Australia
- 2013 Fire Protection Accreditation scheme (FPAS) was introduced with Inspect and Test the first accreditation
- 2016, Fire Protection Association Australia (FPAA) were approved by the The Western Australian Bushfire Accreditation Steering Committee as the first accrediting body for BAL assessors and BPAD practitioners in Western Australia.
- 2020 FPA Australia was approved as an accreditation authority by NSW government to accredit practitioners as fire safety assessors and fire system designers based on the requirements of the Fire Protection Accreditation Scheme.

The idea was never to replace government licensing or registration but to fill the gaps where government does not regulate the fire industry.
